MONTEREY COUNTY FILM COMMISSION SETS UP 'FLICKR' PHOTO GROUP ON WEBSITE

The nonprofit Monterey County Film Commission, which works to attract and facilitate film production in Monterey County, has created a Flickr group on its website, www.FilmMonterey.org. Flickr is an online photo and video hosting website, and is a popular platform for sharing images.

The film commission has posted some location photos, and invites photographers to join the Monterey County Film Commission group to see local images and to contribute photos that can help show off beautiful locations as well as off-the-beaten-track looks that might appeal to filmmakers.

To join the Flickr group, go to <http://www.flickr.com/groups/> and search for "Monterey County Film Commission." Some photographers may be contacted later about having their images posted on the film commission's searchable online location library, Reel Scout.
